

DESIGN

As one of Scandinavia's largest architectural practices, it is of central importance to C.F. Møller Architects not only to design and have an influence on architecture, but also to contribute to the continuous development of the design of interiors, fixtures, furniture, lighting and products for buildings and their surroundings.

The simple, the clear and the unpretentious comprise the foundation of our approach to design. However, these are transformed into outstanding design only when combined with knowledge of human needs and behaviour, and a flair for space, materials and technology.

The starting-point for our design work is the same as for our work with architecture: We approach the task with humility and attention, and concentrate on searching out the essence of a useful, durable and original design.
