

The new Opera and Cultural House follows the topography and weaves parts of the city together.

