THE HOTEL

The d'Angleterre is the result of a love affair between two young people. In the middle of the 1700's, Jean Marchal, a French servant, and Maria Coppy, daughter of the royal family's chef, fell in love. The pair complimented each other perfectly – she was a genius in the kitchen and he knew everything there was to know about working for the aristocracy. This match-made-in-Copenhagen was the beginning of d'Angleterre's history.

The couple settled down by the lakes of Copenhagen and opened a restaurant. Later they moved the restaurant to Kongens Nytorv (King's New Square) at the corner of Vingårdstræde in the heart of Copenhagen - and added rooms for guests. And it is from that point we mark the official founding of the d'Angleterre - although that name wasn't added until 32 years later in 1787. The founders' and successors' talents and commitment to providing exceptional service, hospitality and comfort have been the hallmark of the d'Angleterre for more than 260 years. This tradition is the foundation of the d'Angleterre legacy.

Today, d'Angleterre's engaged owners, and every member of the staff, affectionately carry on the tradition of passion for service that has earned the hotel its 5-star Superior rating.

ROOMS AND SUITES

In 2011, d'Angleterre closed for 23 months for a head-to-toe renovation that infused the hotel with 21st-century strength and technology – yet retaining every aspect of the building's classic grace and elegance.

Each of the spacious and stylishly decorated rooms and suites have modern touches that complement the traditional design to exquisite effect. And each is ideal for any visit – be it for business, pleasure or entertainment.

Each guest room features grand bathrooms and individual state-of-the-art in-room climate control, entertainment and technology. Many of the suites have balconies with epic views of the Danish capital.

The Royal Suite - providing living space of up to 400 square meters (4,305 square feet) - offers lavish fabrics and furnishings in a sophisticated, classical style with contemporary touches. Overlooking one of the city's most classic squares: Kongens Nytorv, the Royal Suite offers a breathtaking view of the Royal Danish Theatre and Nyhavn.

The d'Angleterre suites offer individual interior inspired by local notabilities and former guests like Hans Christian Andersen.

RESTAURANT MARCHAL

Our Marchal restaurant reflects the culinary love that has quite literally been at the heart and soul of the d'Angleterre since 1755. The tradition of fusing passion and culinary art continues at Marchal.

Copenhagen is the world-leader in creative cuisine, and Marchal together with the Executive chef Jakob de Neergaard strives to make the d'Angleterre dining experience appealing to all the senses. Fusing a modern urban touch with culinary passion Marchal's Michelinawarded cuisine brings a classic French twist to revolutionary Nordic cuisine.

In the spring, summer, fall and Christmas, Marchal spreads out onto the terrace and sidewalk of Kongens Nytorv.

BALTHAZAR

Balthazar Champagne Bar is first and foremost about Champagne – about celebrating life in an ambiance of urbaneness – alone, as a couple, or with friends. With its separate entrance, chic Copenhageners come to revel in the voguish décor and hot tunes courtesy of our DJs. Enjoy an extensive selection of Champagnes from more than 42 different makers or a signature cocktail. You can feed your appetite for sophisticated snacks all complemented by the beautiful décor and international ambience.

Welcome to Balthazar – Copenhagen's tribute to joie de vivre.

KRUG AFTERNOON TEA

Take one of the finest British traditions, combine it with Champagne and give it a Scandinavian touch – and you have d'Angleterre's lavish Sunday Afternoon Tea.

In cooperation with KRUG Champagne, d'Angleterre has reinterpreted the classic English Afternoon Tea and it is served in the beautiful Gallery Hall with high ceilings and imposing chandeliers.

Untraditional and eclectic specialties are featured – like lobster and truffles.

Using the finest china 'Emperor's Garden' from Fürstenberg, our team of attentive staff is on hand to make sure your Afternoon Tea at d'Angleterre will be unforgettable.

Afternoon Tea is served every Sunday from 3pm to 5pm.

CREATIONS STUDIO

d'Angleterre has always been known for its elegant design, flowers, décor and discreet sense of style.

Now, the hotel has opened the doors to a world that had previously been reserved only for d'Angleterre's guests.

The d'Angleterre CREATIONS affords guests, admirers and design aficionados the luxury of taking the best of d'Angleterre home with them – beautiful floral creations, signature flowerboxes, exclusive blankets, exclusive scented candles, grand coffee table books, selected pieces of furniture and much more.

Each season we carefully select the most alluring products in keeping with the d'Angleterre's unique sense of taste and style.

Our creative team will be pleased to inspire you.

MAISON D'ANGLETERRE

MAISON d'Angleterre is a culinary destination for discerning connoisseurs. Here you will find the finest delicacies from the Michelin-starred kitchens of Marchal, along with many other wonderful products from the region to indulge both the palate and the soul.

In the morning, MAISON d'Angleterre smells of freshly brewed coffee and warm house made croissants. And in the afternoon, our skilled confectioner serves a little piece of heaven - a beautifully designed cake to be enjoyed either in-house at MAISON or for takeaway in one of our cute MAISON cake boxes. The MAISON d'Angleterre concept has been created of the desire to bring the gastronomic cuisine and rarefied taste experiences of Marchal beyond the walls of d'Angleterre, to the streets of Copenhagen and its passersby.

The shop is stocked daily with freshly baked cakes, pastries and other refined delicacies. And as the seasons change, the selection changes as well, but there are certain products that you will always be able to find on the shelves.
